JOBS of the SEASON: Exterior Remodels

In this edition we will be featuring exterior remodels which display different roof contours that change the facade of the homes as well as giving more space to each dwelling.

The Hall House

This is a wonderful example of how dormers and a new porch can completely change the facade of a home. The new wrap-around porch enhances the appearance and gives it an inviting feel. The inside of this house was redesigned to create a larger master suite. By adding dormers to the upstairs it gave more usable space to the bedrooms and play area for the family's enjoyment.

ASK the REMODELER

Q. I would like to free up more counter space by installing a micro-hood over my range. However, I am concerned that it will be too high to safely remove hot dishes.

A. Placing a microwave oven too high should definitely be a valid safety concern. If you can't see the contents of the dish you are heating up, the microwave is too high for you. An option you could consider would be to install a drawer microwave. They are the latest innovation in microwave ovens.

Q. The vinyl flooring is turning dark in front of my bathtub on the end where the faucet is located. Do we have a plumbing leak?

A. Odds are you don't have a plumbing problem but you definitely have a water problem. Most deterioration of the underlayment and the vinyl floor turning dark is caused by water migrating. Some of the reasons may be due to the fact that the caulking around the shower door or tile wall grout has failed. Another reason may be that the shower curtain is not protecting against water spray in the corner. Sometimes just re-caulking in front of the tub or around the shower door will solve the problem but other times more drastic measures are required.

The Kitendaugh House

This garage conversion boasts several new spaces. Included are a new bedroom, bathroom, larger family room, utility room, and guest bath.

The outside has a striking new appearance that includes the use of faux tumbled stone.

These features updated this 70's style home to one that looks as if it could have come from last year's parade of homes.

The Jackim House

An addition was added to this home over the garage. It gave the family additional bedrooms and blended seamlessly into the original home.

CONGRATULATIONS!

To our Referral Reward Winners:

THANK YOU T SQUARE!

Dear Dorman,

Enclosed is the final payment on the kitchen project. Thank you for the excellent workmanship and attention to detail. Since our last project 25 years ago you have come a long way. Patrick, the project manager, was indeed a skilled craftsman and kept the project on schedule and us informed along the way. When the project was completed, cleanup was done promptly. We would gladly refer you to our friends. It was a pleasure doing business with you again.
